Time is money when bringing new services to market.

Time is of the essence. Infinys™, Convergys' modular, convergent business support system software, provides operators with a single location for entering, managing and selling all services individually or in combinations. The solution lowers both capital and operating expenditures by consolidating redundant systems associated with product, customer, fulfillment, and revenue management. Rely on Infinys to accelerate the launch of convergent services and service bundles — to drive operator profitability when it matters most.
